Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Thursday 13 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain and showers easing. Fewer showers Friday, with some sunshine.

This Evening and Tonight:
Rain edging erratically northwards overnight and easing for most, leaving clear spells, perhaps followed by a few sharp showers into the south later. Becoming chilly in inland rural areas by dawn, although frost is unlikely. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Friday:
On the cloudy and cool side at first, but brightening up with some warm sunny intervals later. Fewer, lighter showers then preceding days, with those remaining mainly affecting southern counties. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Rather cool at times, with showers developing widely most days, perhaps heavy and prolonged locally. Some warm sunny spells are still expected however. Slight frosts possible in northern rural areas.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.